CROSS ATLANTIC IN 16 HOURS

ALCOCK AND BROWN MAKE RECORD TRIP IN VICKERS.

VIMY.

MADE FAST SPEED

MACHINE SMASHED WHEN THEY LANDED IN IRISH BOGS.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

London, June 16.—Capt. John Alcock and Lieut. Arthur W. Brown, in their Vickers-Vimy biplane, landed at Clifden, Ireland, completing the first nonstop airplane flight across the Atlantic. Their trip from St. Johns, N. F., was made in sixteen hours and twelve minutes. The landing was made at 9:40 o'clock, British summer time, Sunday. In taking the ground the machine struck heavily and the fuselage ploughed into the sand. Neither of the occupants was injured.

Much of the flight was made through a fog, with an occasional drizzle. This hampered the airmen considerably.

Captain Alcock explained the silence of his radio instrument during the trip by saying that the wireless propeller blew off soon after the airplane left Newfoundland.

"We were much jammed by strong wireless signals not intended for us," he added.

When word was received here of the accident to the machine in landing, arrangements were made for mechanics to leave London immediately to make repairs.

Word came from Clifden that the pilot and navigator of the biplane were leaving for Galway, whence Lieutenant Brown planned to travel by train to London.

Captain Alcock, however, hoped to be able to fly to London in the machine which made the record flight as soon as it could be repaired. It was planned to have him give an exhibition over London in the machine, if possible.

The Aero Club received a message from Clifden not long after the transatlantic fliers landed, signed by them, which merely stated that they had completed the flight in sixteen hours and twelve minutes. They requested instructions from the club.

In reply the club telegraphed Captain Alcock: "Keep machine intact until observer arrives."

The air ministry stated that certain marks were put on the airplane at Newfoundland which must be officially identified by a member of the royal air force before the flight is declared to have been officially completed. It was said at the ministry that it was probable one of its officers would leave Dublin in an airplane to relieve Alcock and Brown.

It was hardly believed there that the machine could be repaired before several days had passed, and it was thought both the aviators would proceed to England by train. Alcock and Brown stood the trip well.

St. Johns.—The triumphant crossing of the Atlantic by Captain Jack Alcock and Lieut. Arthur W. Brown will not deter other airmen here from emulating the feat, according to announcements made by the aviators.

The London Daily Mail's $50,000 prize for the first nonstop flight having fallen to the Vickers-Vimy machine, crews of the other airplanes being assembled here and devoting their attention to a contest for the speediest voyage across the ocean.

3,600 U. S. TROOPS GO INTO MEXICO.

El Paso, Tex.—The Twenty-fourth Infantry battalion crossed the international border to Juarez at 11 o'clock Sunday night. The Fifth and Seventh cavalry regiments crossed at three o'clock east of El Paso. A battalion of the Eighty-second artillery crossed east of the stockyards. There were approximately 3,600 American troops on Mexican soil ten minutes after ordered to make the crossing. Col. Selah H. H. Tompkins of the Seventh cavalry was in command of the cavalry brigade which crossed at the ford, while Colonel Hadsell was in command of the infantry. Two armored motor cars rumbled over the bridge going to Juarez. The reason given at military headquarters for ordering the troops to cross was to "prevent firing from the Mexican side on El Paso."
